JESSICA COURTER BIOGRAPHY

Jessica Courter is a seasoned event producer with over 15 years of experience crafting high-profile weddings, corporate gatherings, and luxury experiences worldwide. Renowned for her creative vision, meticulous attention to detail, and ability to seamlessly execute large-scale productions, she has built a stellar reputation in the event industry.

Her career has taken her across the globe, collaborating with international teams to create culturally immersive celebrations. Beyond luxury events, she has built a dynamic corporate portfolio, producing high-profile activations, premieres, and strategic brand experiences.

At Activision Publishing, she led game launches, press events, and high-end corporate retreats, while also pioneering virtual event solutions to navigate industry shifts. At Paramount+ (CBS Interactive Events), she partnered with PR and cross-functional teams on season launches, influencer campaigns, and celebrity mailers, ensuring seamless execution and brand authenticity. Her contributions played a key role in winning a Shorty Impact Award for the 55-year celebration of Star Trek Day.

A sought-after producer, Jessica continues to contract with top firms, delivering bespoke corporate experiences. Most recently, she collaborated with Colin Cowie to curate an exclusive, white-glove conference experience—an industry first—further showcasing her expertise in sophisticated, high-impact events. In 2024, she contributed to the success of the Los Angeles Dodgers' Blue Diamond Gala with Cora And Company and produced a premiere for an Amazon film, along with corporate conferences, in collaboration with JJLA.

In addition to producing world-class events, Jessica's passion for hospitality extends to wine and culinary experiences. As a WSET Level 3 certified professional, she expertly curates wine tastings and luxury dining experiences, blending her deep industry knowledge with her love for travel and culture.

With a background in venue management and film production, Jessica brings a unique perspective to every event, ensuring each one is not only flawlessly executed but also deeply personal and meaningful. Her work has taken her to iconic destinations such as Los Angeles, New York, Mexico City, Cannes, Ibiza, St. Barths, Paris, London, Manila, and Boracay, solidifying her status as a global event producer.

Jessica is committed to innovation, collaboration, and excellence, always striving to create unforgettable moments that leave a lasting impact. A proud San Diego State University graduate, she currently resides in Santa Monica, CA, always ready for her next adventure.
